All accepted e-poster abstracts and e-posters may be published online on the submission platform, and the respective e-posters will be exhibited and presented onsite during the symposium. Prizes for the best oral e-poster presentation (1st place) in each of the six submission categories will be awarded.

Deadlines

The deadline for submitting an e-poster abstract is 1 December 2025, 23:59 CET. Please note that late submissions will not be considered unless a deadline extension is formally announced by the Osteology Foundation.

The applicants will be notified via e-mail whether their e-poster abstracts are accepted or rejected by 30 January 2026. All first authors of accepted e-poster abstracts must register for the symposium by 15 February 2026. All first authors of accepted abstracts will be required to present their work during the second day (24 April 2026) of the symposium. ## e-poster abstract submission system

The e-poster abstracts must be exclusively submitted through the online submission system (provided by documediaS). Multiple submissions of the same author are allowed but must have different topics. The following link will guide you to the login of the submission system:

<https://ios2026.abstractserver.com/submission/#/login>

A submission manual with screenshots can be found as appendix of these guidelines. The information you will be requested to enter in the online submission system is the following:

1. Abstract body

Type selection

Please select here if you like to compete with your e-poster abstract for participation in the Research Networking Day, for oral e-poster presentations or just a usual e-poster presentation during the symposium. The 20 best e-poster abstracts submitted will receive an invitation to participate in the Research Networking Day. More information about this event can be found here:

Research Networking Day - Osteology Vienna

General data

Please select here the category into which you believe your e-poster abstract will fit best. The submission categories are:

- Bone Regeneration
- Soft Tissue Regeneration
- Periodontal Regeneration,
- Peri-implant Regeneration
- New Biomaterials & Technologies
- Linking Oral with General Health

Please note, that the Osteology Foundation reserves the right to reallocate to another category. In this case, the corresponding author will be notified via email.

Please indicate if the nature of your research study is clinical or preclinical. For the submission of case reports, please select the option “clinical” and indicate “case report” clearly in your abstract title. You may also consider the Case Competition - Osteology Vienna.

Please enter the title of your e-poster abstract, which must not exceed 25 words. Please do not use UPPER CASE TITLE. Title Case Title or Sentence case title are allowed.

Authors can edit their e-poster abstracts after submission via the edit function available on the landing page of the online submission tool. After the submission deadline has passed, editing any submitted abstract will no longer be possible.

Evaluation & selection

- All e-poster abstracts will be reviewed by a jury of experts in their field. You can find them listed on the following website: e-Poster Exhibition - Osteology Vienna
- Evaluation criteria are relevance for oral tissue regeneration, originality of hypothesis, methodology and clinical relevance.
- All first authors of accepted e-poster abstracts will be invited to display and present their e-poster during the e-poster session at the symposium.
- If the submitting author is unable to attend the symposium or to present their e-poster, they must notify the Osteology Foundation via e-mail (grants@osteology.org) as soon as possible and before the start of the symposium, to withdraw their abstract/e-poster. Any withdrawn submission cannot compete for the award. Alternatively, they may appoint a substitute presenter.

e-poster format

- The screen dimension is 60" in landscape orientation, which corresponds to 135 cm in width and 75 cm in height (resolution of 1920x1080 pixels).
- Illustrations and text must be readable from a distance of at least 1.5 meters. E-poster titles should include the full title (NO UPPER CASE TITLE), authors (without academic title) and their institutional affiliations.
- Please feel free to design your e-poster as you see fit, as long as it respects the requirements indicated above. There is no e-poster template available.
- The e-poster presented at the symposium must cover the same topic as the e-poster abstract.
- Your e-poster can only be uploaded in PowerPoint (ppt/pptx) or PDF format before the start of the symposium. The final e-poster is converted to PDF (no animations possible). One additional audio or video file can be uploaded to be shown next to your e-poster onsite.
- All posters will be displayed digitally. There is NO need to print the e-poster.

e-poster presentation

All e-posters will be on display during the second and third day of the symposium. To enhance the scientific exchange, first authors shall be close to their e-posters during lunch and coffee breaks and be prepared for Q&A by any interested symposium participant.

Oral e-poster presentations will take place on Friday, 24 April 2026 from 10:45 – 11:15 and 15:45 – 16:15. After abstract submission and review by our scientific committee, the first authors of the three highest ranked e-poster abstracts will be invited to present orally for 5 minutes (plus 2 minutes for Q&A). A jury for each category, consisting of two scientific committee members, will evaluate the three presenters in each category on-site and will award a prize to the best presenter in each category on the following symposium day.

Awards

Six prizes will be awarded in recognition of the best works in all submission categories. Only one prize (1st place) per category will be awarded.

The award winners will be selected based on both their e-poster abstract submission and their onsite oral e-poster presentation during the symposium (please refer to the “Evaluation & Selection” section above). Those selected in 1st place will be awarded a prize of 500 €.

The award ceremony will take place on the final day of the symposium (25 April 2026, 11:15-11:30 CET). Winners will be required to come on stage to receive their prize.
